

The Daily Record

The Patch Boys Fight Hunger with Food Bank

July 21, 2023

The Patch Boys of Greater Fayetteville, a local drywall and ceiling repair company in Cameron, and the Food Bank of Central & Eastern North Carolina have partnered together in an effort to fight hunger in the local community.

The Patch Boys is collecting nonperishable food items from its clients, before, during and after services, to donate to the Food Bank once a quarter.

“We were deeply moved by the wide-reaching connections we established with homeowners through The Patch Boys, and it inspired us to take action in our community. Starting the food drive and collecting donations directly from people’s homes felt like the best way to make a positive impact,” shared Nick Salvadia, who owns The Patch Boys of Greater Fayetteville with his wife, Danielle. “This partnership is more than just a one-time effort; it’s a commitment to creating lasting change. Since we began in June, we’re eagerly looking forward to the growth of our bond with the food bank, which will allow us to make an even greater impact together.”

Nick and Danielle Salvadia are on a mission to form relationships with local homeowners through their home repair company and have always wanted to help their community. Their partnership with the Food Bank is simply a part of their plan to make a difference in their area and in the fight against hunger.

This partnership will be ongoing for an indefinite amount of time. Both parties are hoping this will bring in a large amount of donations due to the accessibility of donating through the home repair company.

In an attempt to encourage donations, The Patch Boys have decided to begin a giveaway of a Yeti cooler.

The Patch Boys, part of the BELFOR Franchise Group, specializes in minor drywall, sheetrock and plaster repairs as well as various installation projects.

The Food Bank of Central & Eastern North Carolina has served 34 counties in North Carolina for over 40 years.

“Simply put, the Food Bank works every day to provide food to people in need while building solutions to end hunger in our communities,” according to the agency’s website. “Through partnerships, education, and programs, the Food Bank empowers communities to overcome hunger, creating an environment where all North Carolinians thrive.”

The Patch Boys offer services in the Greater Fayetteville area, including Buies Creek, Bunnlevel, Lillington, Falcon, Godwin, and Linden.